

1,000 EXCURSIONISTS DIE IN CHICAGO RIVER

2,500 ARE THROWN INTO WATER AS STEAMER EASTLAND CAPSIZES

Many Drown Almost Within Grasp of Bank Despite Every Effort at Rescue Made By Thousands of Persons on Wharf—Marine Architects State Steamer Was Top-Heavy and Ballasted In an Uncertain Manner—Federal and County Grand Juries Are Ordered to Make Investigations.

CHICAGO, July 24.—A thousand persons lost their lives in the Chicago river today by the capsizing of the excursion Steamer Eastland while warping from its wharf with more than 2,400 employees of the Western Electric company and their relatives and friends on board, bound for a pleasure trip across Lake Michigan. After working ceaselessly all day and far into the night, the bodies of 842 victims of the catastrophe, most of them women and children, were collected from temporary morgues and taken to the Second Regiment Armory. When these bodies had been tagged, Coroner Hoffman, taking into consideration estimates of bodies thought to be in the hold of the steamer, lying on its side in the river and in the stream itself, said he had hopes that the total dead would not exceed 1,000.

Turns Over in Five Minutes.
The Eastland, said by marine architects to have been top-heavy and ballasted in an uncertain manner, turned over inside of five minutes after it began to list, pouring its gala passengers into the river or imprisoning them in its submerged hull.

Every effort was made by thousands of persons on the river wharf to rescue the drowning men, women and children, but many drowned almost within grasp of the river bank. Mothers went to death while their children were snatched to safety. Other children died in the arms of their parents who were finally saved. Hundreds of girls, freed for a day from their tasks of making telephones and other electrical apparatus in the factory of the Western Electric Company, dressed in their smartest white frocks, drowned miserably.

Koin Avenue in Mourning.
Koin avenue, a small street near the factory of the Western Electric company, was in mourning tonight. Every house lost from one to all of its occupants in the disaster. Many residents of this street tonight lay in the morgue or beneath the steel hull of the Eastland over which searchlights shot their blinding glare while hundreds of men searched for more bodies. Efforts to discover the cause of the accident were begun long before the work of rescue was over. Federal and county grand juries were ordered, and a coroner's jury was impaneled and all the officers and crew of the Eastland were arrested.

W. C. Steele, secretary and treasurer of the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship company, who owned the Steamer Eastland, built on Lake Erie in 1903, and remodelled after later because top-heavy, it is said, was arrested tonight and locked up at a police station. The steamer was leased by the Indiana Transportation company whose officers said they were not responsible for the licensing of the ship and did not control the crew.

Coroner's physician Springer tonight declared that 1,300 persons were killed, while other estimates ran as high as 2,000, but these did not agree with the statement that not more than 2,500 passengers were aboard the vessel.

During the day more than 700 bodies were taken from the river and the hull of the overturned steamer, whose sides were cut open with gas flames to admit divers. Several persons were taken alive from the cabins of the ship after it had lain on its side in the river for four hours, but the 300 other persons said to be in the hulk are all dead.

Scores Work in Hull.
Under the glare of searchlights tonight scores of men worked in the hull of the vessel to remove the bodies.

The steamer lay on the bottom of the river, one side protruding like a monument to the hundreds it had drowned as it turned over.

Cause Is Not Determined.
The cause of the capsizing had not been determined tonight but federal, city and state officers were conducting investigations to determine whether the ship was top-heavy from faulty designing, was improperly ballasted, or was poorly handled in warping from the wharf.

Marine architects asserted that the Eastland was faulty in design, that the top deck had been removed because of the tendency of the ship to list and also pointed to the possibility that the ship had been un-were drowned after aiding their wives and children to safety.

One man was seen to cling to a spike in the side of the wharf while two women and three children stepped up his body as a ladder to safety. He fell exhausted into the river as the last one of the five reached the pier. Whether he was lost or not could not be discovered. Instances of Heroism Numerous.
Instances of heroism were almost as numerous as the number of persons on the scene. Boats as soon as full took rescued passengers to the wharf or to the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, which had tied up as near the upset Eastland as possible. In an hour the water was cleared of excursionists. Those who had not been taken to land had sunk or were swirling up the river towards the drainage canal locks at Lockport, Illinois, many miles away. The locks were raised to stop the current and arrangements were made to take bodies from the river along its course through the southwest part of Chicago.

Shortly after the water was cleared ship engineers and helpers were on the exposed side of the Eastland's hull, cutting through its steel plates with gas flames. Divers were hurried into under-water suits. A bridge of boats was formed between the pier and the capsized ship.

Scores Taken to Hospital.
As the divers gained entrance to the hull the scene of distress moved for the time being from the river to the extemporized morgues. Warehouses of wholesale companies along the river were thrown open and bodies were laid in rows on the floors. Scores of persons taken from the water were severely injured and these were taken to the Iroquois hospital, built in memory of the 600 women, children and a few men who were burned and crushed to death in the Iroquois theater New Year's afternoon several years ago.

Efforts to resuscitate those taken from the river were unsuccessful except in two or three instances. It was also said that many of those injured would die.

The whole city was soon in consternation over the catastrophe. Word of the accident spread rapidly and to the thousands already at or near the wharf, other thousands added themselves. The Clark street bridge near the wharf was crowded until it threatened to collapse. Streets had to be cleared by the police to allow the movement of ambulances.

The business men sent their automobiles and motor trucks to aid the injured and carry away the dead. The warehouse soon was filled with bodies and other dead were taken to the Second Regiment.

City Displays Signs of Mourning.
Mayor William Hale Thompson was in San Francisco and Chief of Police C. C. Healey was also out of town but Acting Mayor Moorehouse sent out a request that the city display signs of mourning. Flags on public buildings were placed at half-mast and many places were draped with mourning. Baseball games were postponed and festivities largely ceased.

While those on land were disposing of the dead, injured and rescued, the divers in the heart of the sunken vessel sent up an almost constant stream of corpses from the submerged decks. First it was a gaily dressed girl in her teens, who had been caught between a pile of chairs and a cabin wall. Next it was a slight boy, gathered from the lifeless arms of a father, who had clung to his offspring even in death. Then followed an old woman who had gone aboard the ship to watch the youthful pleasure of her grand children, and a little girl with bare legs and booties with gay ribbons adorning against the lace of her holiday gown.

Find Baby Girl Alive.
One thrill passed through the crowd as word came from the steamer that a girl baby had been found alive among the hundreds of dead in the ship. The child was discovered in a starboard state room, where she had been held from the waters by a chair that jammed against the berth. The baby only half awakened as it was carried to land. Its mother could not be found.

Two women were found alive in another stateroom on the protruding side of the Eastland but that ended the hopes that any number had escaped death in the death trap itself. There were still 300 persons in the hold when these three persons were taken out alive and the explorers of the hulk said that all were dead.

Take All Bodies to Armory.
Work of tagging the bodies of the dead and placing them in accessible places for identification proceeded all day and night. Reports from various temporary morgues gave a total of 770 bodies but tabulation became so confusing that it was decided to take all bodies to the Second Regiment Armory, so that those who were looking for lost friends and relatives could view all the victims in one place.

Identification was slow and scenes at the morgues were as affecting as those at the river when the steamer capsized. Mothers fell across the biers of children whom they had sent away a few hours before on what was intended to be a day of pleasure. Men had to summon all the social qualities they possessed to retain their composure as they wended their way through rows of corpses, looking for missing children or wives.

Landis Orders Jury Probe.
Federal Judge Landis ordered a grand jury impaneled to investigate the catastrophe. States Attorney Hoyne prepared a county grand jury inquiry; Coroner Hoffman selected a jury to look into the cause of the deaths; the police arrested all the officers of the Eastland and the health commissioner arranged to purify the river, for fear disease might be spread by the presence of so many bodies in the stream.

Arrangements were also made to get at the sunken vessel to determine the underlying causes of the accident. Derricks on scows were taken to the side of the Eastland and marine engineers were engaged to make an inspection of the treacherous ship.

Thompson in charge of the various works of clearing up the toll of casualties and determining the responsibility for the capsizing of the boat tonight said that the endeavor would necessarily be slow because of the large number of persons aboard the Eastland and the difficulty of getting at the hull of the steamer.

At 9 o'clock tonight 831 bodies had been removed to the Second Regiment armory. They were laid in rows of 80, across the whole length of the armory.

Revised figures showed 176 bodies had been identified.

Of 114 partially identified bodies, 47 were men, 48 women, 7 boys and 12 girls.

Rush to Side to See Launch.
That a sudden rush of persons on the deck of the Eastland to port side to look at a speeding launch caused the catastrophe was the assertion of Jack Elbert, gauge tender of the steamer. He said he and J. M. Erickson, chief engineer, escaped drowning by wading through water in the hatch and crawling out of a port hole into the river.

The steamer Eastland was kept stable by means of a water ballast system," Elbert said. "Water is pumped into the chambers in the ship until she becomes steady. This was done before even freight is taken on board. The first thing I noticed this morning was that the Eastland began to lean to starboard. Erickson, the chief engineer, was in charge of the pumps used to pump the water into the chambers. He said: 'Boys, steady her up a little,' and then we pumped water into the other side until she was up over and all right. We had just evoked her up when a launch came down the river and passed the Eastland and the crowd on the deck rushed over to port side to look at it. The weight all on one side apparently proved too much and the Eastland began to list badly.

"We worked frantically at the pumps to try to bring her back." Eye witnesses informed the police that there was a man in the launch operating a moving picture camera and that this attracted the attention of passengers on the Eastland, who rushed to one side of the boat.

Forbids Exhibition of Pictures.
Exhibition of moving pictures depicting the Eastland tragedy in any photo-play theater in the city was forbidden by Acting Mayor W. R. Moorehouse.

"Harry Miller, deck hand on the Eastland, said:

"The boat began to list about 7:20 while the crowds were still pouring on her. She listed then so much that the gang plank lifted two or three feet at the ship's side. They stopped the crowd coming on and got all on board over to the shore side of the ship. That righted her. Then they let the rest of the crowd come aboard.

"I didn't like the way she acted. I said to my mate: 'I'm scared of her; I'd rather be off her this minute.'"

"Finally they all got on about 7:30; maybe a few minutes later. We got orders to cast off the stern lines and we were working at that when she began slowly to list again to the north.

"My mate and me heard them hollering on the deck around us and we thought they were shouting as usual to their friends on the dock. Then we knew they were scared and we noticed the ship listing very slowly, more and more to the north. Then she went over."

Admit First Group to Armory.
At 9:35 o'clock the first batch of people were admitted to the armory and they began efforts to identify the dead. It was announced that

ILLINOISANS AT FAIR MOURN SHIP TRAGEDY

NEWS OF EASTLAND DISASTER PLUNGES OFFICIALS INTO SORROW

Dinner, Reception and Ball for "Illinois Day" Are Cancelled—Chicago Day Will Probably be Devoted to Memorial Exercises.

San Francisco, July 24.—Thousands of present and former Illinoisans who had gathered at the Panama-Pacific exposition today to celebrate "Illinois Day" remained to mourn the Eastland tragedy. Thousands who had gathered at the Illinois state building to participate in ceremonies commemorating the greatness of the state, instead stood with bare heads while the band of the First Regiment of Illinois Guard played "Nearer My God to Thee". With every arrangement made for a festive occasion, the receipt of the news of the Eastland disaster plunged Governor Dunne and other high officials of the state and city into sorrow. Notices were at once sent out cancelling the dinner, reception and ball. Chicago Day set for next Tuesday probably will be devoted to memorial services instead of festivity. The Illinois commission have taken this plan under consideration. The afternoon's program was entirely eliminated with the exception of the presentation of the commemorative jewels by the exposition to the governor. Acknowledging their receipt the governor said:

"In view of the awful calamity that has befallen the state of Illinois and the city of Chicago, it would be unbecoming of me and I cannot find it in my heart to make a speech."

Governor Dunne then read a set of resolutions prepared by the commission which in part follows:

"We are grieved beyond expression by this terrible calamity. Our profound sympathy goes out to the relatives of the many unfortunate victims of this heart breaking catastrophe. We arise and stand in silence as we thus in unison express our heartfelt sympathy over this dreadful loss and be it resolved, that this meeting adjourn forthwith."

Flags about the Illinois state building were ordered placed at halfmast for ten days.

Thompson Starts Back.

San Francisco, July 24.—Wm. Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, and his party, about eighty in all, will leave here on a special train late today or tonight for Chicago, foregoing the Chicago Day celebration Tuesday at the exposition which brought them here.

Mr. Thompson issued the following statement as a reply to messages received from Chicago newspapers:

"To the People of Chicago:
"I am shocked and grieved by the news from home detailing the horrible disaster which has befallen our city and brought sorrow to thousands of Chicago homes. My heart goes out in sympathy to each and everyone afflicted by this terrible calamity. All events in connection with our trip have been cancelled. I shall urge that 'Chicago Day' at the exposition next Tuesday be turned into a memorial occasion and services be held for thousand or more dead and sympathy extended to the many thousands more of bereaved friends and relatives.

"As Mayor of Chicago, I consider it imperative for me to return to my post of duty as quickly as possible. All city officials now here will return with me.

"Pending my return I have instructed Acting Mayor William R. Moorehouse, the chief of police and all other city officials to use every resource at the city's command to alleviate the suffering in our beloved Chicago."

NAVAL ARCHITECT TERMS THE EASTLAND, CRANK OF THE LAKES

Chicago, July 24.—"The Eastland was the crank of the lakes and as far as I know the only crank on the lakes", W. J. Wood, naval architect who was called by the owners in 1903 to correct faults in the boat, declared today. In 1904 Wood made representations to Captain Ira Mansfield, local steamship inspector, which resulted in an order to cut off the top deck of the vessel and to keep the water ballast compartments filled.

"The deck was cut off in pursuance of Captain Mansfield's order", Mr. Wood declared today, "but it would be impossible to pass on the cause of the accident until it is known whether the other conditions were fulfilled at the time of the overturning of the boat. The Eastland has been in operation on Lake Erie and has not met with an accident, but evidently the owners were acquainted with its faults and operated it accordingly. The design of the vessel would not permit its operation as other vessels are operated and great care had to be taken at all times."

GERMANS TIGHTEN GRIP ON WARSAW

Cross Narew River North of Capital After Weeks of Battering

STORM FORTRESSES

Von Buelow's Forces Cut Off Russ Retreat in Southern Courland and Deliver A Body Blow

REPULSE TURK ATTACK

LONDON, July 24.—The Austro-German armies seem unable to force the Russians from the important positions to the immediate west of Warsaw and from the line along the Lublin-Chelm railway, but the German victories in northern Poland and north of the Polish capital have tightened their grip on the city and military critics say that the abandonment of Warsaw by the Russians again becomes more probable.

Stern Rozan and Pultusk.

After weeks of battering, the German forces for the first time have crossed the Narew river north of Warsaw and now have a considerable weight of men on the south bank of that river between the fortresses of Rozan and Pultusk, which a Berlin official statement describes as having been stormed irresistibly. The communications, however, do not state whether the fortresses capitulated. The fight in southern Courland, according to German claims, has resulted in something akin to a crushing victory such as was familiar in wars of former years. General Von Buelow's forces having cut off the Russian retreat and delivered a body blow. It is stated that the Germans cut up the retreating troops badly, dispersing those which were not killed, wounded or captured. That the Russians are holding the immediate Warsaw front is plainly evidenced by a German official statement which refers to only minor operations in this area and tells of a comparatively insignificant number of prisoners taken. Military critics say this indicates that there have been no serious attacks on either side, which probably means that the Germans are dug in, waiting reinforcements and some favorable circumstances, while the Russians from their strongholds are risking nothing in counter-attacks.

The report of the investment of Ivangorod is now patently erroneous, as the Germans speak of attacks west of the city, and though claiming that they hurled the Russians across the Ivstula to the northwest of the city, do not contend that their forces obtained a foothold on the eastern bank.

Turks Assail British Left.
Mining and grenade throwing around Souchez constitute about the only notable event along the western front and this has brought no change in the situation. The Turks again have assailed the British left on the Gallipoli peninsula. The attacking party approached the British trenches with the snap that they have heretofore shown, but the Turks withered before the machine gun fire and the British lost no ground.

Today was the anniversary of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia, which so soon was followed by the great war. The Serbian army has been heard little of for several months, but it would cause no surprise if something developed soon along this front with the Serbian forces.

The Globe Democrat says that it's only the first spot on a palm beach suit that hurts. After that dust and dirt are taken as a matter of course.

If one were to judge by appearances all differences and dissensions which have troubled members of the board of education during past weeks have been buried and disappeared. The "appearance" referred to was the trip made Friday by the president and all members of the board to the various school buildings to talk about repair work needed. There seemed to be an absolute unanimity of opinion and the repairs in every building were agreed upon without the slightest objection of any member. In addition to this good feeling there was a manifest desire on the part of all the board to proceed at once to make the needed changes.

Up in Moline they are thoroughly interested in the good roads movement as is evidenced by the organization of the "Greater Moline 365 Day Good Road Club". This organization has a membership of 177, which means that the membership fees amount to $10,000. This with other funds available makes a total of $50,000 which will be expended in the vicinity of Moline this year. It is purposed to surface as many miles of highway possible approaching this city from this sum as a matter of pleasure to the residents of Moline and as a matter of business for attracting farmers to that city.

Over at Beardstown they have been running a bathing beach for a number of weeks and already troubles have arisen which have come near closing the enterprise. The reason may be gathered from this comment in the Beardstown Illinoisan Star.

"The dissensions and contentions arising among patrons of the local bathing beach are of the same sort and same character that appertain to the procedure at all public bathing beaches. In our opinion the establishment of what the management designates as a sex-line, may help some, but it seems that a more efficient means of hitting at the active cause of embroilment, would be to compel all male bathers at the beach to wear leather goggles, and women bathers to wear some large, well fitting rubber obstruction of the mouth."

From this distance one cannot gather the force of the mouth gag suggestion but judged by other bathing beaches all that the Beardstown people need is strict regulation as to the length and breadth of bathing suits.

Paving Pays.
The formal adoption of the resolution by the board of local improvement for the paving of South Main street from Morton avenue to Superior avenue practically settles the matter of that paving work. Residents of the street who had some objections to the improvement were impressed yesterday with the fact that filing of objections in the court would simply add to the court costs and necessarily to the cost of the improvement. The board has full authority to push the improvement through and this will be done if for no other cause than to take advantage of the state's appropriation. It was stated, too, at this meeting that tomorrow a resolution will be passed for the re-topping of the remainder of South Main street from Morton avenue to the square, and that an effort would be made to hurry this movement.

Judging from past statements, the same action will be taken with reference to the West State street paving work and still other improvement work is in prospect. In individual instances paving work almost always seems to bring some hardship, but in the end the improvements are not only of general benefit but also improve property to such an extent that the betterments pay for themselves.

The Oklahoma Way.
Oklahoma is one of the new states where they are continually experimenting with legislation. A new measure which has just gone into effect there is known as the "home ownership law". It provides that some school funds held by the state may be loaned on first mortgages on farm lands not in excess of $2,000 to any one property holder. The terms are such, carrying a low rate of interest, that the principal and interest can be paid back in forty-six equal installments made up of semi-annual payments during a period of twenty-three years. It is said that the state now has $500,000 available for this purpose and other funds in sight are such that in a very few years' time it is estimated that the farm loans thus made will aggregate several millions. Some Oklahoma legislation has been worthy of the term "freak" but this "home ownership law" should have a salutary effect in giving financial aid to industrious farmers who have not much capital to aid them in their work, and no doubt there will be a correspondingly satisfactory development of agricultural interests in the state.

Packing Business is Expensive
Because of some dissatisfaction over live stock prices in the great packing centers there has been a growing sentiment for the establishment of co-operative packing plants by farmers and live stock growers. This movement has taken on such interest that recently the government has issued letters of warning to call to the attention of farmers who are thinking about embarking in this business something of the attendant expenses and perils. Particular stress is laid upon the fact that where any meat is to be shipped beyond the state line that it must be government inspected and that federal employees must be kept constantly at the plant. Then, too, plants which handle beef and mutton must be equipped with refrigerating cars. The whole tenor of the government warning is to emphasize that going into the packing business is not merely the building of a plant, as that is one of the least of the expenses. A great capital is required for the handling of the product after slaughter and there must be great facilities for the storage of the product. Live stock men who complain that they are at the mercy of the packers sometimes forget these facts. It does seem to be true that live stock prices are regulated more by the packers and demand, but it must be remembered too, that without the constant market afforded by the organized packing industry that the raising of live stock would be a far more uncertain business than it is now.

A New Idea in Representation.
The bettering of municipal government still continues to be a problem which receives country wide consideration. The city of Ashtabula, Ohio, which recently adopted the commission city manager plan of government is discussing the question of adopting a new election system and this is to be voted upon August 10. The new system is called "proportional representation". Each voter on entering a booth has a ballot giving the names of all the candidates and he then puts the figure 1 opposite the name of the candidate who is his first choice, the figure 2 opposite the name of the candidate who is his second choice and thus on down the column as far as he cares to go. In the case of a seven member council the candidate is elected as soon as he has received more than one-eighth of all the ballots cast. This number of votes is called the quota. When seven candidates have each received a quota of votes the council is full and the count is over. It is clear, therefore, that not more than one-eighth of all the ballots cast can be ineffective in electing somebody. Under existing systems it is possible for half or more than half of the votes to be thrown away. A writer arguing in behalf of the advantage of proportional representation says:

"Its advantages are overwhelming. It makes every vote—except for that small remainder of not more than one-eighth—count. It gives every councilman a unanimous constituency. By requiring the support of a different quota of voters for the election of each member of the council, it makes it impossible for any party or faction to elect a majority of that body by concentrating its vote on four candidates and takes the government of the city out of politics. It gives any minority or group comprising more than one-eighth of the voters of the city a chance to be represented in the council."

"It perfects representative government by giving every voter almost a certainty of having his vote help to elect a representative. It extends democracy by strengthening the power of minorities and curbing the possible tyranny of a majority. It is a further step away from ward politics, machine rule and the dominance of the boss."

THE EASTLAND TRAGEDY.
We have become so accustomed to the slaughter of thousands daily in the great war, we have heard so frequently the stories of the suffering of women and children in the European countries, that now the telegraphic dispatches which relate these facts do not touch us as they did in the earlier days of the war.

But we stand aghast at the awful happening in Chicago river Saturday whereby nearly 1,100 people lost their lives almost in the twinkling of an eye. In some ways their death was much less terrible than the end of countless thousands in the war trenches, yet we are horror stricken at this tragedy and it is certain that every person within many miles of Chicago felt in a personal way the sadness which it brought. The nearness to us of the accident has something to do with its realization, and there is the added feature that all these hundreds who have gone down to sudden death were starting away for a day of pleasure. Death overtook them just a minute or two after they had waved gay farewells to friends and relatives upon the wharf. In the war countries men march out to death with much less terrible than and near ones who see them leave with death almost certainly waiting at the other end of the journey, have steeled themselves for this sorrow and prepared themselves for this sacrifice upon the altar of patriotism.

With the Eastland disaster it was different. Sorrow supplanted joyousness, a ship of gladness became a mournful. There must be a fault somewhere—neglect somewhere—to have made such an accident possible, and no doubt every effort will be bent toward fixing that responsibility. The punishment of any person or persons responsible for the tragedy will amount to little in atonement, and the only lasting good that can come out of any investigation as to the cause of the Eastland disaster may be more rigid rules for the construction of such steamers; more careful government regulation as to overcrowding, and the requirement of better facilities for the saving of lives in times of partial disablement.

The fire which broke out in Chicago years ago which cost so many lives was a tragedy from which many hearts have not yet recovered, yet that sacrifice of lives possibly was not in vain for out of it have grown fire protection systems for theatres the country over, immediately afterward there was an overhauling of Chicago playhouses, asbestos curtains were ordered, the number of required exits was increased, fire escapes were added and these same rules were adopted in a great many other cities. The sinking of the General Slocum some years ago with a passenger list of more than 2,000 Sunday school children upon an excursion brought improvement, too, in the equipment of some steamers; and out of the Eastland tragedy will no doubt come still further rules for the greater safety of passengers.

REMARKABLE REMARKS
(From The Independent)
Harry Thaw—I am done with Broadway.
William Jennings Bryan—I am glad to be home.
Samuel Gompers—We are trying to avoid strikes.
Count Okuma—Calamities arise more often from within than from without.
Woodrow Wilson—In public affairs stupidity is more dangerous than knavery.
Corra Harris—As for woman—she needs a lot of adding to and subtracting from.
Henry Ford—Thrift is one of the cornerstones on which manhood must be constructed.
William J. Locke—I could give up tobacco and alcohol and clean collars and servants, and everything you could think of—but no dreams. Without them the earth is just a sort of backyard of a place; and with them an infinite garden.
Ed Howe—If a man shows a disposition to provide for his old age, don't discourage him by saying he is stingy.
Mrs. Thomas A. Edison—Women must learn all over again how much their country needs the homes they can make. A genius without a home is like a ship without a pilot.
Governor John M. Slaton—I went six nights without sleep, but I would rather lose a few nights' sleep than go forty years—if I live that long—with the blood of Frank on my hands.
William Lyon Phelps—Anything that concentrates a man's attention on his own village, city, state or country to the exclusion of the rest of the world is narrow, foolish and wrong.
George Bernard Shaw—Like other Socialists, I have been too much pre-occupied with the atrocities of peace and the problems they raise to pay due attention to the atrocities of war.
Jane Addams—In each of the warring nations there is this other point of similarity. Generally speaking, we heard everywhere that this was an old man's war; that the young men who were dying, the young men who were doing the fighting, were not the men who wanted the war, and were not the men who believed in the war.

For a pleasing desert for today's dinner order a quart of FRESH PEACH ice cream; also some real nice ANGEL FOOD layer cakes, salted almonds etc. from MERRIGAN'S. TEL. 227.

TO CAMP AT MATANZAS.
A party of young people will leave today for Lake Matanzas and will spend a week at Elsinore cottage. The party will include Mr. and Mrs. James A. Powers as chaperones; Miss Hattie, Miss Laura Doyle, Miss Ethel Sweeney, Miss Hazel Hahme, Messrs. Scott Sweeney, John Fogarty, Edward Cox and Charles Gruber.

MR. VIEIRA'S WILL FILED.
The will of the late J. J. Vieira was filed for probate Saturday at the office of the county clerk. The instrument was drawn Nov. 22, 1906, with James T. King, Kathryn Harlowe and J. Marshall Miller as witnesses. All of the property of every kind is willed to Mrs. Vieira, who is named as executrix of the will.

PROBATE COURT.
In the estate of Robert L. Wyatt, the inventory filed was approved. In the estate of Joseph J. Vieira, petition for probate of will was filed and the hearing set for Sept. 6.

ANXIETY OF JACKSONVILLE
PEOPLE FOR RELATIVES ON STEAMER.

Telegrams Having News That Many
Have Been Accounted for in Big Disaster on Lake.

When the news of the sinking of the Steamer Eastland at Chicago reached the city, there was considerable anxiety occasioned among relatives who had kinfolk and friends in the employ of Western Electric company, under whose auspices the excursion to Michigan City, Ind., was being given.

After several hours of anxious waiting, Mrs. J. B. Perkins east of the city received a telegram from her son, Clyde Todd of Chicago who is in the employ of the Western Electric company, stating that he was on the steamer when the accident happened but that he was saved and all right.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harmon of 516 South East street, received a telegram from their son John Harmon, saying that he had a miraculous escape in the accident. He has been in the employ of the company for sixteen years.

Mrs. T. M. Tharp of South East street had received word from her daughter, Rose Tharp, who is at Lake Forest that she had thought of going on the excursion. No word has been received from her in response to a telegram. Her name does not appear in the list of the dead.

Mrs. Charles Cole of 234 West College avenue, received a telegram from her brother, Fred Dace early Saturday morning stating that he was all right. Mr. Dace has been in the employ of the Western Electric company for some time.

No little anxiety was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. Homan for the safety of their niece, Miss Annetta Siff, who is employed by the company in their downtown office. Miss Siff sent a telegram saying that she was not on the ill fated steamer.

John Arenz, son of Albert Arenz of this city is employed by the Western company. No word had been received from him last night.

Elmer Porten, son of Mrs. Jennie Porten of 502 West College avenue, who is in the employ of the Western company and his wife were passengers on the Eastland. Mrs. Porten received a telegram from her son Saturday afternoon, stating the safety of both. Mrs. Porten was formerly Miss Lottie Stout, daughter of George Stout of West Court street.

Among the list of dead appears the name of Rose Cullen, aged 29. Friends here feared that Rose Cullen may be a daughter of Edward Cullen for many years an employee of J. Capps & Sons who moved to Chicago with his family several years ago. Mr. Cullen is a cousin of James and Cornelius Harrison but they received no word from him yesterday.

Ves Clerihan, a step son of Mrs. M. J. Clerihan of East College avenue is an employee of the Western Electric Co., but relatives here received no message from him.

R. H. Steed of Jordan street was greatly worried about the safety of Miss Helen Steed who it is understood was one of the excursion party. A telegram stated that she was safe.

MORTUARY

Lauren W. Coe, Sr., aged 80 years who formerly resided in Waverly, died at the family residence in Springfield, Friday evening after three months' illness from heart disease. He enlisted in the Union army from Waverly and was second lieutenant of the 14th Illinois infantry. After the war he ran a sawmill in Waverly and then moved to Springfield, where he followed the occupation of a painter. He was the father of the late City Commissioner George E. Coe of Springfield.

Harrison. Miss Sadie Harrison, aged 67 years, and for many years a resident of Jacksonville, Ill., died at her home in Los Angeles, Cal., July 16, 1915. She had been failing in health for some time before the final break-down came a year ago. She was a great sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism. A general breakdown followed and after being confined to her chair and bed for one year she slipped away to the other side.

Miss Harrison was greatly beloved. She was bright and energetic, always cheerful, always doing for others. Although never possessing much bodily strength, she was a source of inspiration to all who knew her. After giving up her active work as a music teacher, and after being confined to her chair, she still continued to be useful in helping others and by the beautiful work she could do with her hands. Finally her hands were stricken and yet her sweet spirit lived on. When the call came she was ready and glad to go.

She has made her home for some years with her sister, Miss Martha Harrison, and niece, Miss Mary. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Susan Gibbons, of Quincy, Ill., a sister Miss Martha of Los Angeles; brothers William of Springfield, George of Little Rock, Ark., and Charles of Barry, Ill.

She was laid to rest in Rosedale Cemetery, Los Angeles, July 21, 1915. A host of friends brought their floral offerings and assisted in making her last resting place truly a place of beauty. Her wish was to be buried under the California sunshine that she loved.

MAVERICKS

All hail to the optimist, he is a cheerful man; he wears a smile that won't come off and does the best he can. No matter what confronts him, or how dark the future looks, he always seems to get there and lands by hook or crook. If someone tells him times are hard, he says they might be worse, and that the country's on the blink, he says in terms quite terse: "Just think how sad 'twould be if things were twice as bad." No matter what's put up to him of war and other strife, he calmly meets it with a smile and gives to it the knife. Let's emulate the optimist and look on life's bright side, and fight old trouble every day, from dawn to even tide. We'll cheer each brother on the way and lend a helping hand, and if we're not rewarded here it may come in the other land.

Must Visit at Boarding House. Miss Mildred Hash is visiting in Petersburg this week.

The Language as She Is Writ. Talk about the new five and ten cent store at Beardstown, Dan Stewart went down last Friday and told one of the good sisters that he wanted to watch the boys at Bethlehem church last Saturday night but he got left for there wasn't any of them there and so he was disappointed for he thought that he would get to have them arrested.

A yellow tea was given in Springfield the other day and now some one probably will begin to talk about the Yellow Peril.

A news item says the Kaiser's visiting cards are 4 by 6 inches and are the largest known. The ones he has been sending to the Allies from the 40-centimeter guns are somewhat larger and probably not half so acceptable.

That the Hon and the lamb shall lie down together was aptly illustrated one day the past week when Walt Miser and Larry O'Donnell walked into the Pacific hotel arm in arm. It may be that Larry is trying to sell Walt an automobile and get even with him for starting that jitney case before the utility commission.

An ex-chief of police of Oakland, Cal., threw a bomb into the ranks of the Purty congress convening at San Francisco Thursday when he declared in an address that segregation was the only way to solve the social evil problem. There are many people who agree with that theory. (However, the social evil problem and its solving is one of the biggest that has ever confronted the human race. It may finally be solved, but before it is it will require the best effort and thought of the world, and it seems that there also must come a radical change in human beings.)

House in Fine Shape. Joe Losch and family have moved into their old new home, which is all done now but finishing and cleaning.

Tribute to 'Bob' Hockenbuhl. Farewell, old friend, your earthly work is done; Your burdens all put by, the final victory won. No more your voice in music will be lifted up; Our tears are falling fast, and bitter is the cup.

The journey you were called to take so suddenly, To mortal eyes is veiled in deepest mystery; We know that you have gained the other shore, And clasped the hands of loved ones gone before.

We know that you immortal life have found; That at the last you heard the Heavenly sound; The voice we loved will now the Angel chorus swell— And so we say, farewell, old friend, farewell!

According to a banker in Melrose Park, a man may be called a benevolent gentleman by a newspaper and still not be complimented. This banker is suing the editor for damages in the sum of $5,000. We never heard of an editor having that much money, but then maybe he does his banking with the aforesaid banker, and that gentleman knows how much he is worth.

The old Biblical quotation, "The wicked flee when no man pursueth," is not applicable to the Russians, as the Germans are stepping on their heels most of the time.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Gave Ice Cream Supper at Woodson.

The Gleaners of the Unity Presbyterian church of Woodson gave an ice cream supper on the church lawn last night that was well attended and a neat sum was realized for the society. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Charles Irlam, Miss Marguerite Steinmetz and Edith Colton. An informal musical program was given consisting of a vocal solo by William Colton and Miss Leila Potter and a piano solo by Miss Edith Colton.

Informal Tea For Miss Morrow.

Miss Esther Davis, 252 Webster avenue, gave an informal tea Friday afternoon for Miss Mignon Morrow of St. Louis, her guest. Forty young ladies assembled to enjoy Miss Davis' hospitality and the hours from 4 to 6 were spent most pleasantly. Assisting the hostess were Misses Marie Wiswell, Ruby Cully, Pauline McMurphy, Esta Brown, Gladys Andre and Carrie Mackness.

A number of guests were at the Davis home for the evening hours and gave attention to music and dancing. Miss Alice Hastings of Honolulu, Hawaii, one of the guests, sang several native songs to the accompaniment of a Hawaiian musical instrument played by herself.

TRIAL OF RECRUITING AGENTS WILL BEGIN

Enlistment of Montenegrins Declared to Be in Direct Violation of Neutrality Laws.

Chicago, July 24.—Two Montenegrin recruiting agents, Jove Matenovich and Peter Lubich, his secretary, will be tried here on Monday charged with violation of the neutrality law of the United States in helping to enlist soldiers to fight in the European war. The men were arrested in Portland, Ore., at the request of the Chicago bureau of the department of justice.

Five Montenegrin recruiters were indicted here on July 8, and among them are the two men caught in Oregon. It is charged that Matenovich, writing on the stationery of the Montenegrin foreign office, authorized one Dushan Chelovich of Chicago to purchase transportation for recruits over the railways. A check for $389, said to have been given in payment for tickets, figured in the evidence.

The government officials say that the enlistment of the Montenegrins was a direct violation of the statutes. It is pointed out that practically all male citizens beyond a certain age are enrolled in the army lists of France and Germany, so that no enlistment is necessary for Frenchmen or Germans residing in this country who wish to join the colors. In the case of Montenegrins, however, enlistment is necessary, and inducing men to enlist is a violation of neutrality. In view of the reading of the statute the department of justice decided to proceed against the recruiting agents.

American Red Cross officials attribute the arrests of the five agents to ignorance of the neutrality laws and to overzealousness.

Matenovich, when arrested at Portland, declared that before he and his fellow agents started on their tour of recruiting they consulted Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador at Washington and that he told them there would be no violation of the neutrality laws in the plans they had in view. Their work was almost completed when the arrests were made. It is said that some 10,000 men have been recruited or aided for Montenegro, mostly from the mining camps of the west. Besides the two men taken at Portland on charges brought by the United States government, two others were arrested at Bisbee, Ariz., and one agent was arrested in New York.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER'S DAUGHTER WEDS

Ceremony in Episcopal Church at Ipswich—Miss Gardner Weds Secretary of American Embassy in Berlin.

Ipswich, Mass., July 24.—Miss Constance Gardner, daughter of Congressman A. P. Gardner, who conducted the country-wide appeal for war preparedness, was married at noon today to Grafton Winthrop Minot, secretary of the American embassy in Berlin. The ceremony was performed in the Episcopal church in Ipswich, in the presence of many social and official notables. The bride is the grand-daughter of U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Miss Helena Lodge, her cousin, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Doris Taylor, Miss Anne Means, Miss Frances Bradley and Miss Anna Agassiz, all of Boston, and Miss Katherine McClintock and Miss Caroline Ogden Jones of Washington. The groom was attended by Henry Potter Russell, brother of a fellow-worker of the American embassy in Berlin. Following the ceremony there was a large reception at Sagamore Farm, Hamilton, the summer home of the Gardners.

While the families deny that the couple had a "war romance", they were both ardent workers in Europe. When the war broke out, Miss Gardner and her father were in London, and they both took hold of the problem of aiding Americans to get out of the war zone. Young Mr. Minot was also abroad at the time, intending to study at Oxford. He was in Berlin when the war broke out, and the care of many embassies was heaped onto Ambassador Gerard. He offered his services to the Ambassador, and has since been made a secretary of the embassy.

Both of the families united today are wealthy. The young couple will make their home in Boston.

RAIDED SUSPECTED JOINT.

Sheriff Grace Graft, Deputy Sheriff George Stice and Howard Wannamaker and Constables Crum and Ferguson raided a place on East Court street Saturday afternoon. The place is presumed to be operated by Sam Ornellas and the search warrant was sworn out by Deputy Sheriff George Stice. It has long been suspected that the illegal sale of liquor and gambling were being carried on these buildings.

The officers were unable at first to gain admission. All the doors were locked and finally entrance was gained through a door in an area way back of the building. This was done when Wannamaker put his weight against the door and broke the lock. The officers found several men in the place, but no arrests were made.

Sheriff Graft said that there was a barrel of beer and a bottle of whiskey in one of the rooms, as well as a number of poker tables. The officers suspected the presence of a roulette wheel, but search failed to reveal it.

WOMAN N LONG SWIM.

Boston, July 24.—When the leading swimmers of the East make their annual attempt to swim from the Charles River to Boston Light tomorrow, they will have as a competitor Miss Celia Friedberg, the 17-year-old mermaid of Revere Beach. Few have ever accomplished the long swim, in which currents and tides play such an important part.

SCHOOL AUDIT GIVES INTERESTING EXPENSE ITEMS

Comparative Statement of Repair and Improvement Expenditures for the Several Wards—the Total Cost of New Building.

In the recent audit of the board of education books made by R. A. Gates for the period from May 1, 1912, to June 30, 1915, figures are given showing the total cost of building repairs for the period mentioned and giving also the total cost of the eighth grade building. During the period mentioned repairs on the ward and high school buildings cost $13,040.64, and the eighth grade building cost $69,161.98, making a total of $82,202.62. The expenditures for repairs by wards were as follows:

INTEREST IN CHAUTAUQUA NOW GROWING DAILY

Inquiries for Tents Indicates There Will Be Big Family of Campers for the Week—Program Replete With "Good Things"—The Working Committees.

The preliminary work in connection with the 1915 Jacksonville chautauqua is now in full swing. All committees have been organized and interest in the chautauqua is growing daily.

The large number of inquiries as to tents indicates that many families are planning to spend the entire ten days on the chautauqua grounds. Camp life will be very attractive this year because of a number of improvements to be added in connection with the grounds.

The directors managing the chautauqua are endeavoring to furnish the best obtainable talent in wholesome entertainment and recreation, varied enough to please everyone, old and young and at the same time present a program that will be educational and helpful in bringing the people of the community into closer touch for community action.

The program this year is one of exceptional merit, including such well known names as William J. Bryan, Senator Renyon of Iowa, Congressman Murray of Oklahoma, Bob Seeds, Nat Brigham, Dr. Spurgeon and for musical numbers your own favorites band, L. A. C. orchestra, Albers Octette, Chicago Male Quartette, Walter Eccles and the College Girls. The program is one of exceptional merit. The price of season tickets is most reasonable.

If you have not recorded your tickets, purchase now from A. C. Rice, secretary at the Farmers State Bank and Trust company or from some subscriber.

The following is a list of the officers, directors and the various chautauqua committees:

BURLINGTON WAY GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION MEETING SOON

Will Be Held in Burlington August 9th—Each Vice President Has Privilege of Inviting Five Guests.

H. C. Wilhite, secretary and treasurer of the Burlington Way Good Roads association will be held in the city of Burlington, Ia., Monday, August 9, 1915, at 2:30 p. m., in the rooms of the Commercial Exchange.

Each vice president has the privilege of inviting five delegates, making six from each town or city on the Burlington Way. Your wife, sister or mother will be welcome.

The Burlington Auto club will banquet all delegates at Burlington hotel at 6 p. m., followed by a theater party. No one who has a chance should miss going to the big meeting.

Burlington, Ia., is a beautiful city and will show you the real spirit of hospitality. You must notify H. C. Wilhite at once, not later than August 1, if you intend going and how many from your place will positively go, so arrangements can be made for entertainment. Answer quick how many will go.

And in conclusion: How is your section of the Burlington Way? You are requested to use your best efforts to have the Burlington Way dragged on Saturday, August 6, so that the large number who go in automobiles may have a good road to travel over.

Our 1915 Folder Guide will be off the press by August 1.

"Allow me to thank you for the good work you have done on the Burlington Way in the past year and which now stands in the front rank as the best marked trail north and south through the central Mississippi river valley.

"Answer at once how many will go from your town to Burlington on August 9. Whether going by train or automobile is up to you, Mr. Vice President."

FAR WEST TRACK AND FIELD MEET

San Francisco, July 24.—Five athletic events are on the program today for the Pacific try-outs for the purpose of selecting the Pacific association team to enter the Far Western championships against the teams from five other western districts. The meet is under A. A. U. jurisdiction. The 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, the 120-yard hurdles and the 220-yard high hurdles, together with the shot put, will bring out the best athletes of this section. George Parker, the world's record holder for 220 yards and conqueror of Howard Drew, will be a sure starter, together with Eddie Stanton, the intercollegiate champion.

INDIANS BECOMING EDUCATED.

Washington, July 24.—The Indian population of the United States has much lower rate of growth than the whites, according to a special report soon to be issued by the census bureau. The occupations of the Indians are spreading but into all channels and illiteracy is having a marked decrease. The percentage of self-supporting Indians is increasing.

PICNIC IS POSTPONED.

"MORNING GLANCES" (By Gosh)

Cleveland has found a team it can beat. Yesterday she won a double header from Philadelphia. The score of the first game was 4 to 3 while in the second game the score was 12 to 4 in favor of Cleveland. In the second game Barbare caught a line drive from Lajoie's bat with one hand and with the assistance of Kirk and Wambsgans made a triple play. Malone and Schang were on the bases at the time and both had started to run with the crack of the bat, thus making the play easy.

Brooklyn beat St. Louis Saturday and tightened their hold on second place. The Superbas won a double header from the Cardinals. The Superbas are going fine and the Phillies must keep stepping to keep them from getting out in front. If Brooklyn should win a pennant it would be a great thing as it probably would awaken the populace in the city of Churches more than ever before in the history of the city. It might also make the Brooklyn bridge unstable but it is to be hoped that this will not occur.

The Eagles will play the Astoria team again today, weather permitting. This team held the Eagles to a 2 to 0 score on the last trip. The Eagles not being able to score until the eighth inning. It looked like it might be luck on the part of Astoria. They seem to think that they can beat the Eagles. If you want to see what will happen attend the game as the Eagles are going to try and make the victory more decisive this time.

The Braves beat the Cubs yesterday by a score of 1 to 0. Rudolph was in his form of 1914 and held the Cubs to two hits. Johnny Evers' single scored the only run of the game for the Braves.

Philadelphia won two games from Cincinnati yesterday. Alexander and Rixey were both in fine form and the result was that the Reds got but one run in the two games. The Phillies hit the ball hard in the second game getting fifteen hits and fifteen runs. In the first game the Phils made four runs off of five hits, the Reds contributing costly errors.

The Giants beat the Pirates twice yesterday. The score of the first game was 8 to 4 while the second game resulted in a score of 4 to 2. The Pirates made twelve hits in the first game to seven for the Giants but could get but four runs off of them. In the second game the Giants drove Cooper from the rubber while Peritt held the Pirates safe all the way.

The Tigers and Senators broke even in a double header Saturday. In the first game Dubuc outpitched Walter Johnson and the Tigers won by a score of 2 to 0. Detroit got but five hits off of Johnson to seven that Washington made off of Dubuc. The Tigers bunched theirs and won. In the second game Boehling held the Tigers safe while the Senators hit Dauss, Oldham and Steen hard and won 8 to 5.

DETROIT AND WASHINGTON DIVIDE A DOUBLE HEADER

Dubuc Outpitches Walter Johnson in Opening Contest—Senators Drive Dauss From Box in Second Inning of Second Game.

Detroit, July 24.—Detroit and Washington divided honors in a double header. Dubuc outpitched Walter Johnson in the opening contest. Washington drove Dauss from the box in the second inning of the second game. Scores:

First game: R. H. E.
Washington . . . 000 000 000—0 7 2

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY.

July 25.
Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Admiralty in the new British Coalition ministry, is 67 years old today. The displacement of Churchill by Balfour was one of the most important shifts made last May, when all factions of English politics were joined for the prosecution of the war. Churchill had had strife with Lord Fisher, and the great naval commander had resigned. A master stroke of the Prime Minister prevented further trouble among the leaders and welded the government factions. The name Balfour had figured prominently in British affairs since 1880. Two years before that, when he was only 30 years old, he had been sent to Berlin on a special mission of importance. He had been Privy Councillor, president of the Local Government Board, Secretary for Scotland, Chief Secretary for Ireland, leader in the House of Commons for the Opposition, First Lord of the Treasury, etc. He was born at East Lothian, Scotland, on July 25, 1848.

He was educated at Eton and Cambridge, and became private secretary for his uncle, the Marquis of Salisbury. This gave him a valuable early training in State affairs. He had a winning personality and was a hard worker, and these qualities gained for him repeated recognition. He is an advocate of woman suffrage, and has been influenced in this direction by his sisters prominent and brilliant women. Balfour was called in Ireland "Daddy Longlegs." He got the British government to build several public works and gave employment to the people. He has contributed vast sums from his own fortune in philanthropy. Mr. Balfour has written several philosophical books and many essays.

Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, much loved and much pitied, is 39 years old today.

Hon. William C. McDonald, governor of New Mexico, 57 years old today.

Nat Goodwin, actor and mine promoter, 58 years old today.

Duke of Roxburghe, reported wounded from a French hospital, 39 years old today.

John K. Tener, president of the National Baseball League, 52 years old today.

Duchess of Connaught, wife of Governor General of Canada, 52 years old today.

Mrs. L. E. Wyatt has arrived at her home, 872 Grove street after a visit of several days with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Easum at Clayton, Adams county.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE

By The Associated Press.)

Tokio, June.—(Correspondence of the Associate Press.)—Great interest is manifested in Japan in a project to establish a Japanese university at the conquered German possession of Tsingtau, which would be devoted to the study of the old Chinese classics and Confucianism in general. The promoters, who point out that Confucius was born in Shantung province, say they want to make this university the "Jerusalem of Confucianism."

The idea is to maintain and spread the doctrine of Confucianism and to promote the principles of Oriental moral philosophy. The movement is strongly supported by leading scholars and business men of Japan and China, who themselves will bear the cost of the establishment of the institution. Premier Count Okuma is one of the interested supporters and prominent scholars like Dr. Unokichi Hattori, who will give lectures at Harvard university this fall, will take part in the new work.

This is one of many indications of the revival of Buddhism and Confucianism in Japan. Buddhist missionaries are showing increased efforts in Korea and have announced their intention of obtaining a stronger foothold in China. At the invitation of Japanese, the great Hindoo poet and philosopher, Tagore, is expected to visit Japan in October to explain his Oriental philosophic thought. A great Tagore movement is surging through Japan at the present day.

Side by side with this announcement comes a movement launched by the Concordia association, composed of leading Japanese, to foster the religious spirit among the youth of the country. The members of the association believe that there is a growing lack of religious ideals among the young people of Japan, and they regard this situation as a serious drawback to the future of the country.

The organization adopted a resolution which declared: "Faith is the main pillar of personality whose firm establishment can be realized only through the belief in something transcending individual matters."

"School teachers should not disregard or slight or hinder the religious senses which may be aroused in the mind and heart of the pupil. The separation of education and religion does not mean that religion itself is unnecessary in the eyes of the government."

The resolution, which has been distributed to ministers of state and to the members of parliament, as well as leading educationalists throughout the empire, concludes as follows:

"It is unmistakably true that undesirable currents of thought have been running through the Japanese youth, who now seek their own private interest, paying no regard to the national welfare. One of the chief causes of this tendency is that educationalists attach too much importance to material knowledge and do not recognize the superhuman subjects of the metaphysical world. It is impossible to maintain sound nationality in this manner. For the future of the state it is necessary to place the thought of the people on the foundation of some faith and some religion."

FLORAL PARADE AROUSES INTERESTS AMONG MERCHANTS AND AUTOIST

Will Be Special Feature in Connection With Chautauqua Good Roads Day, Wednesday, August 25th.

The recent announcement of the Floral Parade to take place in Jacksonville on Chautauqua Good Roads Day, Wednesday, August 25th, has been the occasion of much favorable comment and has aroused considerable interest among the merchants and automobile owners of the city.

Residents of Jacksonville will recall with pleasure the elaborate parades of this character which have been held in Jacksonville from time to time in former years, usually in connection with the Labor Day Celebrations. Nothing of this kind, however, has been attempted since the automobile has become the almost universal means of travel and the committee believes that the time is right for a splendid demonstration and exhibit of decorated automobiles and auto floats.

Entries will be listed in four classes and will be restricted to automobiles and motorcycles. Motorcycles will not be entered. The grand sweepstake prize of fifty dollars in gold will be awarded to the best decorated vehicle in the parade and this will be in addition to the prizes offered for the best decorated car in each of the various classes. From the fact that the car winning the sweepstake prize will as a matter of course be a winner of the first prize in its particular class, the amount awarded in this case will amount to seventy-five dollars.

How Awards Are to Be Made. Every car entering the parade will receive a numbered coupon. A duplicate coupon will be deposited in a sealed box and a public drawing will be held at the chautauqua grounds after the parade. The first lucky number drawn will be entitled to a prize of ten dollars in gold and various other prizes will be awarded to the second, third and fourth lucky numbers drawn. Persons holding these numbers must be present at the drawing.

In addition to the one hundred and fifty dollars in cash prizes there will be special prizes given by the enterprising automobile dealers for the best decorated cars of the several makes. Mr. Howard Zahn of the Buick Garage has offered a 3x4 Standard Goodrich Tire to the best decorated Buick entered in the parade and Mr. W. B. Miser of the Jacksonville Railway & Light Co. announces that his company will present a $15 electric fan to the best decorated electric car. The Standard Oil Company has given the committee a five gallon can of Polarine oil for a special prize and also the Jacksonville Packing Company has offered a twenty pound can of lard for the same purpose.

These offers were for the most part voluntary and give evidence of the wide spread interest being manifested by the merchants and citizens at large in the coming event. Other enterprising merchants desiring to offer special prizes should communicate at once with Secretary Weber of the Chamber of Commerce as the list will soon be placed in the hands of the printers and will be distributed throughout this and adjoining counties together with the regular chautauqua literature. It is the intention of the committee to advertise the parade thoroughly and it is believed that many thousands people will be attracted to the city on that day.

Several Entries Made. Several entries have already been made and others will be received at any time by Secretary Weber at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce or by Mr. John W. Larson of the Peacock Inn, who is chairman of the parade committee. The other members of the committee are as follows: Messrs. Geo. W. Vasconcellos, H. Jay Rodgers, Marcy W. Osborne, Merle Reynolds, Carl H. Weber and Misses Millicent Rowe, and Esther Davis.

The committee has been in correspondence during the past few weeks with various firms who make a specialty of automobile decorating and no doubt the local merchants dealing in supplies of this character will be able to offer suggestions and advice to all prospective decorators. It is expected that many of them will lay in special stocks of decorative material during the next week or so.

Classes and Cash Prizes. The following classes and cash prizes have been announced to date and others will be made public in an early issue of the Journal.

Sweepstakes—Best decorated car entered in parade, $50 in gold.

Class A.—Cars registered by private owners living in Jacksonville precinct, $25 in gold.

Class B.—Cars registered by private owners living outside of Jacksonville precinct, $25 in gold.

Class C.—Cars entered by business firms, lodges and other organizations, $25 in gold.

Class D.—Motorcycles. Open to all, $5 in gold.

Drawing—Each car participating in parade receives numbered coupon. A public drawing will be held at the chautauqua grounds and prizes will be awarded as follows: First, $10 in gold. Second, third and fourth prizes, will consist of merchandise contributed by progressive Jacksonville firms.

OFFICE OF TRAFFIC MANAGER ABOLISHED. A bulletin has been issued by the receivers of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis railroad company announcing that the office of Traffic Manager has been abolished. This position has been held by C. D. Whitney who has resigned to engage in other business. F. W. Brown has been named as General Freight and Passenger agent, the appointment taking effect at once.

DUCK INDUSTRY VERY PROFITABLE

BUSINESS HAS DEVELOPED RAPIDLY IN RECENT YEARS.

Example Set in Central Eastern States Has Rapidly Spread to Middle West—Ducks Easier to Raise Than Chickens or Turkeys and Profits Are Satisfactory.

For rapid conversion of grains and greases into juicy, tender and luscious flesh, it is claimed that young Pekin ducks have no equal. The business of growing broiler and roaster ducks in flocks of many thousands is now an established industry in the central eastern states, and seems to be spreading rapidly into several states of the middle west.

On Long Island and along the coast north and south of New York city are many farms where flocks of 20,000 to 100,000 young ducklings are raised and prepared for market annually. Interest in this very intensive form of poultry farming is causing a number of poultry growers in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois to undertake it on a more or less extensive scale.

There are a number of attractive features connected with the duck market industry. Ducks are easy to raise if they are properly handled. They are not troubled by the many ailments that make the growing of chickens and turkeys in considerable numbers so difficult and often disappointing. Lice and mites do not molest them. They do not require expensive buildings to house them and it is not necessary to clean their quarters every day, as must be done to keep the chickens' quarters sanitary. No floors are used in their buildings, and all that is necessary is to spread a thin covering of dry litter over the pen as often as its surface becomes damp and soiled, just as is done in the sheep pen. Light frame and wire panels two feet high are all that is needed to confine them in yards.

While they are greedy feeders their rations are largely bulky and inexpensive foodstuffs, and the breeding stock lives largely on pasture during the summer months. And, Washington, D. C., to various places, such as Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Rockies. A total of 760 dozen or 8,120 eggs were mailed out in one to ten dozen lots. The total number broken was 327, or 3.6 per cent; but since many of these could well be used, all that were really lost numbered only 209, or 2.3 per cent. Of these 209, 91 were known to have received violent handling, so that only 118, or 1.3 per cent should be considered as the number lost to the trade as a result of the method of shipping. From these facts, it is evident, then, that the loss in shipment is practically negligible. But the possibility of breakage makes it necessary for the shipper to pack his product in a container with a light bottom, the top being marked: "This side up," so that in case an egg is broken no other mail will be damaged as a result.

The machinery of life has greatly increased.

The woman of today must understand it if she would make it an instrument in her hand for the betterment of life. The skillful worker in today's problems must know how to use its tools, many and varied though they be. So the training of the present day woman must differ greatly in some respects from that of the women of fifty years ago, but the difference in the essential character of the two types is not great.

The world needs now and has always needed women who are intelligent, adaptable, self-controlled, attractive and efficient; women of broad vision, of high courage, optimism; women who can do their in addition, raising young ducklings is a business where the "nimble squire" plays an important part, for it requires but ten weeks to grow and fatten the young stock and put them on the market at prices ranging from 90 cents to $1.80 apiece, owing to season and size and quality.

The White Pekin is the breed of duck found most satisfactory for meat production in the United States. Well matured stock in breeding condition should weigh seven to ten pounds and the ducks if properly fed and cared for will lay from 100 to 120 eggs in a season.

They will begin to lay in January and continue till about July 1. Large duck raisers rarely keep their breeding stock over a second year, preferring to select their breeders each season from the best birds in the early hatches of February, March and April, selling the old stock in June or July.

At the university poultry farm the young breeding stock run from May to November on alfalfa pasture, with a light grain ration. This is composed of seven parts wheat bran, three parts corn meal, five parts chopped green stuff, mixed and moistened to a crumbling state. They do not need a stream or pond of water for swimming, but should be given a generous supply of drinking water in a trough and be provided with shade.

During the laying season they are kept in flocks of twenty-five ducks and five drakes, and should be fed night and mornings a ration composed of the following:
 5 parts corn meal.
 5 parts wheat bran.
 2 parts wheat middlings.
 3 parts cut green stuff or steamed clover.
 2 parts meat scrap.
 3 parts boiled vegetables.
 5 per cent sand.

Charcoal, oyster shell and grit should be in boxes where they can help themselves.

Bran, middlings, corn meal, meat scraps and chipped green stuffs, with always about five per cent of sand, form the ration for the young stock. During the first seven weeks the proportion of corn meal is small, but for the last three weeks before they are sent to market the amount of bran is decreased and the corn meal is fed in larger quantity.

The university marketed over 300 ducklings at ten weeks of age last year which averaged $1 each, and the cost of feeding did not exceed 45 cents a piece.

part of the world's work contribute their part to the world's joy, relieve some part of the world's misery; women who have a proper conception of their relation to the family and to society; women who under whatever name or creed recognize and practice in their lives the fundamental virtues of honesty, unselfishness, responsibility, obedience to and faith in a power outside of and beyond themselves.—Iabel Bevier, of Illinois, head of household science department, University of Illinois.

FIRE LOSS FIGURES ARE STARTLING

PER CAPITA HERE THIRTY TIMES THAT OF ITALY.

Five Times as Much Spent in U. S. for Fire Departments and Other Protection, But Results Are Less Satisfactory—Carelessness is Cause of Great Waste.

(By Walter H. Bennett, Illinois State Fire Marshal).

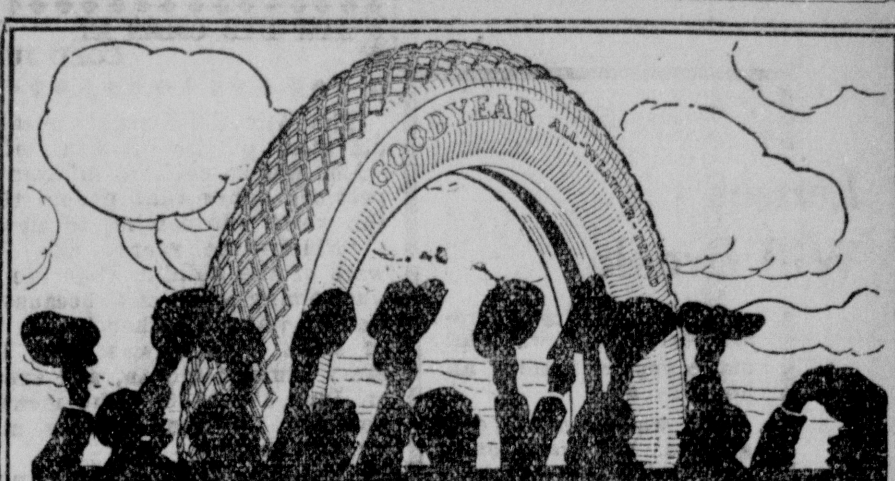

Our per capita fire loss is thirty times that of Italy, and is more than five times the per capita fire loss of other European nations, and yet we spend five times as much in this country for the maintenance of fire departments and for other forms of fire protection. We stand appalled at the tremendous sums which have been spent by European countries in the maintenance of their standing armies and yet it has cost the United States more in the last ten years to sustain this national ash heap than the German emperor spent in equipping the standing army of that country.

Our fire loss approximately equals all of our tariff duties. It exceeds the total cost of the army and navy. It is greater than the annual expenditure for pensions, and the postal service. Our country spent $400,000,000 in the construction of the Panama canal, and three-fourths of this entire cost could be saved in one year if we could conserve for our people the total fire waste of that year. In the state of New York last year the fire loss was more than $25,000,000, and in the state of Illinois exceeds more than $1,000,000 a month. It is certainly a grave indictment on the intelligence of the American people that the fire waste in this country should be $500 a minute; nearly $1,000,000 a day; and more than $1,000,000 a month in our own state of Illinois.

If there is one economic weakness more prominent in the American people than any other, it is their spirit of wastefulness. We are the most wasteful people in the world. For years past we have been wasteful of our material wealth, of our forests and water power and of all our natural resources. Men are becoming rapidly aroused to the necessity of concerted action to conserve this national wealth to the generations yet to come. Is it not just as important that we try to conserve some of this wealth which is now being so rapidly destroyed by fire? What a long way we would go towards solving the high cost of living in this state if we could save to our people a large part of the $15,000,000 worth of property which is annually lost by fire.

Great as is this property loss by fire, it sinks into insignificance when compared to the terrible loss of life. In Illinois alone last year 300 people lost their lives through the agency of fire. Children are allowed to play around bonfires, and each year about fifty little ones are burned to death by having their clothes ignited by such fires. Women persist in starting fires with kerosene, and last year there were sixty casualties which resulted from such practices, causing the death of that many women and children. We are criminally careless in handling gasoline and other volatile oils, so much so that gasoline explosions last years resulted in the deaths of almost the same number of persons as met their death by starting fires with kerosene.

A careful observation and compilation of the reports of fires in the state of Illinois for the year leads me to the conclusion that a large proportion of this great fire waste is occasioned by criminal carelessness and criminal incendiarism. If these two elements could be eliminated the loss would decrease in such amazing proportions as to make the result astounding indeed. There were reported to the fire marshal department last year a total of 11,005 fires, causing a property loss to the amount of $15,353,847. It is considered by people who have made a study of this subject that at least sixty per cent of the fire loss is due to criminal carelessness and neglect, and that this loss could be eliminated by the use of ordinary care and precaution. Our people are particularly careless in regard to their heating apparatus; and the defective flues and chimneys last year caused 1,066 fires and a property loss of $822,510. The careless use of gasoline and kerosene was responsible for 696 fires, and caused a loss of property during the year of $1,216,506.

Goodyear Fortified Tires Cost Users $5,000,000 Less

Our last price reduction—made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about five million dollars this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

tra wear. And we shall spend $100,000 on research this year to find more improvements still.

They Are Yours

These extras belong to you. They mean less rim-cuts, less blowouts, less loose treads. They mean more rubber, more fabric, more mileage, less trouble. Most tire users know that, so Goodyear tires far outlast any other. Prove it yourself this summer. It will bring you tire contentment.

Any dealer, if you ask him, will supply you Goodyear tires.

Yet Note This

Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires embody many extras. Five are costly features found in no other tire. The rest are found in few. If we omitted those extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now.

This year's improvements alone will cost us $500,000 this year. All to give you ex-

Men are now adopting Goodyear tires faster than we can supply them. We have never seen anything like it.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

THE ARRIVAL OF SPRING

By Howard T. KNAPP.
Billy Be By Bo Bum was so happy he could not keep still. He felt as though a thousand little joy bubbles were dancing around inside of him; bubbles so full of fun and laughter that it seemed he must surely burst if he didn't shout and sing at the top of his voice.

For that morning as he lay in bed dreaming of the glorious summer and the run he would have splashing about in the old swimming hole when old Father Winter had been driven back to his home at the North Pole, he was awakened by a loud "Honk! honk! honk!" Jumping out of bed and running to the window, he saw a flock of geese beating up the wind headed straight north. Billy knew they had spent the winter in the Sunny Southland, and he also knew they were migrating to their Summer home away up North, where they would build their nests and hatch out the baby goslings.

And then when he came down stairs to breakfast, he found Mother washing a great pile of buckets—buckets that had been stored away in the woodshed for nearly a year. "Hello, son; the sap has started to run in the maples," called Father, who just at that minute came in from the barn. "Tomorrow we will take a trip out to the Sugar Bush and get ready to tap the trees."

So Billy knew Spring had come at last, and when he ran out doors he found the whole world had undergone a great change over night. The air was soft and warm and fragrant, and as Billy drew in a deep breath he made up his mind he was just about the happiest little fellow alive. The robins and bluebirds were singing in the orchard; the grass was fresh and green where only a short time before it had been covered with snow, and every twig and branch of every tree and bush was bursting into leaf.

So, as Billy went down the lane with a hop, skip and a jump, he whistled as merrily as the little boy who lived on Smiling Island, the magic land that lies just beyond the sunset, where the happy fairies dwell. On and on he ran until he came to the White Forest, only now it was the Green Forest, for when Spring came the big woods had put on a bright new dress in place of the white cloak it had worn all winter. "Hallo, there, Billy Boy," shouted Tinker Teedle Tee, as Billy climbed over the stump fence. "Where under the sun have you been keeping yourself?"

Billy looked all around, but he could not see hide nor hair of the merry little elf. He knew Tinker was hiding nearby, but for the life of him he could not see where.

"Well, Billy Be By Bo Bum, did the cat run away with your eyes, or have you grown too proud to take any notice of your old friends?" teased Tinker Teedle Tee. Still Billy could not see him, so he jumped down from the fence and started to look around on the ground. He was just about to step on a big toadstool when he heard a frightened little scream, and Tinker Teedle Tee scampered out from under it.

"You want to watch out where you are going," grumbled Tinker. "Just supposing you had stepped on me! Why, it makes me nervous even to think of it!" and the merry little elf made such a comical face that Billy burst out laughing. That made Tinker laugh, too, for the old rascal couldn't stay mad two seconds to save his life, so everything was hunky dory again.

"This is the kind of weather that makes a fellow glad he's alive," said Billy, as a breath of wind, heavy with the odor of apple blossoms, came puffing through the woods and ruffled up his curls.

"You bet it does," replied Tinker. "When the leaves begin to bud and the robins and bluebirds come back from the South, I always want to sing."

"Why don't you?" asked Billy. "I did once, but old Busyboddy, the Bluejay, made so much fun of me that I was ashamed of myself. The old villain went all through the forest telling the Little People that I had such a bad stomach ache I was screaming my lungs out."

"He's a great one to make fun of anyone's singing," said Billy. "His voice sounds like a cracked cow bell, and a mighty poor one, at that."

"I soon made him stop," chuckled Tinker. "I reminded him of the old song:

"Said the Blackbird to the crow,

"If you're not black, then I don't know;

Ever since old Adam was born

You've been abused of pulling up corn."

"I never heard that song before," said Billy, "I think—" but what he thought will never be known, for just then a big clumsy beetle flew in his face, frightening him so he nearly jumped out of his shoes, and next week I will tell you all about that beetle and the lesson it taught Billy Be By Bo Bum.

REPORT IS MADE ON SOIL CONDITIONS IN LAKE COUNTY

RESULTS OF EXPERIMENTS ARE TOLD BY ENGINEERS—MAP INDICATES VARIOUS SOIL TYPES.

Under the above title, the experiment station has a complete statement regarding the soils of Lake county and it contains the usual soil map and results of experiments on various fields on soil—types similar to those in Lake county.

Results of experiments on Antioch field, Lake county: "The Antioch field was started in order to learn as quickly as possible what effect would be produced by the addition of this type of soil of nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium, singly and combination. These elements were all added in commercial form until 1911, after which the use of commercial nitrogen was discontinued and crop residues were substituted in its place. Only a small amount of lime was applied at the beginning, in harmony with the teaching which was common at that time.

As an average of 40 tests (four each year for ten years) liberal applications of commercial nitrogen produced a slight decrease in crop values; but as an average of thirteen years, each dollar invested in phosphorus paid back $2.54 (plot 104), while potassium applied in addition to phosphorus (plot 105) produced no increase. While the detailed data shows great variation, owing both to some irregularity of soil and to some very abnormal seasons, with three almost complete crop failures (1904, 1907 and 1910), yet the general summary strongly confirms the analytical data in showing the need of applying phosphorus and the profit from its use and the loss in adding potassium. In most cases commercial nitrogen damaged the small grains by causing the crop to lodge; but in those years when a corn yield of 40 bushels or more was secured by the application of phosphorus either alone or with potassium, then the addition of nitrogen produced an increase.

MEASURE SPELLING ABILITY

Seven out of every 100 third-grade public school children can not spell "has." This and other curious evidences of the special problems inherent in the teaching of spelling are brought out by Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, of the Russell Sage Foundation, in a study just published.

As a result of combining the four most extensive studies that have been made to identify the words commonly used in different sorts of English writing, Dr. Ayres has selected 1,000 words that constitute 90 per cent of the language ordinarily used. This selection was made from various English authors, from four Sunday newspapers of Buffalo, N. Y., and from the business and family correspondence of over 2,000 adults. The objects of the study was to "develop a scale for measuring attainment in the spelling of common words on the part of school children."

Cooperating with the city superintendents in 84 cities of the United States, Dr. Ayres had the 1,000 commonest words tested by an aggregate of 1,400,000 spellings, secured from 70,000 public school children. The result, according to Dr. Ayres, made it possible to accurately measure spelling ability, and to compute the amount of improvement in spelling the same words from grade to grade.

By a scale arrangement, extending on a line from 0 to 100, "spelling ability" is easily and scientifically determined. For example, nine words of most frequent use, viz, "the, in, so, no, now, man, ten, bed, top," revealed that second grade pupils, on an average, spelled correctly 94 per cent of these words. At the other extreme of the scale the words "judgment, recommend" and "allege" were found to be spelled correctly by just 50 per cent of eighth grade pupils. Percentages above and below these would indicate variations from the normal in spelling.

Dr. Ayres finds that "intellectual abilities are distributed in much the same way among people as are physical traits. Just as there are few dwarfs, many people of medium height, and very few giants; so there are very few exceedingly poor spellers, many medium ones, and very few excellent ones. Few words do most of our work when we write. Fifty words constitute, with their repetitions, one-half of words written. The child who masters the 1,000 words on the scale given will make no spelling errors in nine-tenths of his writing."

PANAMA CORRESPONDENCE.
Panama, July 24.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The publication of offers by the canal authorities to look after all matters pertaining to the interests of ships in canal waters and thus practically replacing them any shipping agents on the isthmus has aroused a storm of criticism and resentment among the latter. Their number has been augmented by the several banking houses in Panama and Colon since the Panama Canal fiduciary officers also are prepared to look after the tolls payments without the intervention of banks and bankers.

In a pamphlet just issued by the Panama Canal and containing sailing directions which will enable the ship-owners to avoid having an agent on the isthmus, it is specifically declared "doing business through an agent on the isthmus never facilitates a vessel's passage through the canal."

Quoting from the issue of July 7 of the Canal Record, which contained an article on the same subject, it is stated, "In fact the interposition of a third party in the arrangements for a vessel which is simply passing through the canal is liable to result in confusion and delay." It is then pointed out that the Panama Canal and the Panama Railroad, working jointly, have perfected simple methods for handling all such business as purchasing and delivering stores, water, fuel, cables, mail and payment of tolls.

The local bankers object rather heatedly to the statements in the same pamphlet and issue of the Canal Record wherein the canal officials declare it is unnecessary to employ local bankers to look after tolls payments, thus saving the small commission that would accrue to the bankers. The pamphlet outlines methods of making deposit with the various assistant United States treasurers in the United States from which tolls can be paid, either direct to the collector of the Panama Canal, or through the aid of the Panama Railroad.

Commenced Thursday, July 22.

WE ARE now ready to start our Annual Cut Price Sale on Low Shoes and Slippers. There is always a swing and go to these SALES, right from the start. In many respects this has been a peculiar season, the continued cool, damp weather has interfered with the sale of certain classes of footwear. All low shoes have been reduced in price, while on some, there have been tremendous reductions. A liberal reduction on practically all our high shoes.
Watch our windows and follow our advertisements for prices.

The Route That Offers Most to Exposition Tourists

It's an investment that means a lot—your trip to the California Expositions. You should buy the ticket that will pay the biggest dividends in scenic enjoyment, in attractive and interesting points reached—in luxurious, smoothly-handled train service.

The Burlington is offering a Grand Circle Tour for exposition visitors that comprises the biggest "Seeing America First" value ever offered.
If you have made a Pacific Coast tour before you will realize this. If not, ask your friends who are familiar with the West—who know what's what.

Just get the facts about this Grand Circle Tour, then compare it with any other that you know about, and judge for yourself.
Stop-overs allowed at any point. Ninety days to make the trip.
Step in and get your copy of our California Exposition folder, next time you're going by.

E. F. MITCHELL, Ticket Agent.

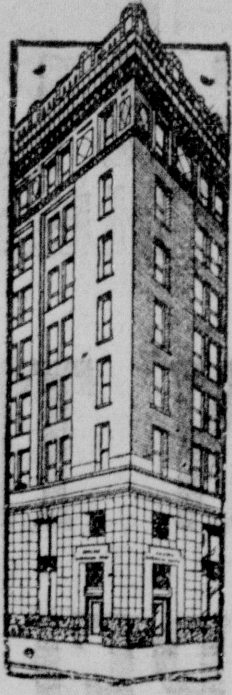

THAT REMINDS ME! If you are going to take advantage of your homestead rights, you have no time to waste. A few years from now the good land will all be gone. Now, you can secure a good 80-acre irrigated or 320-acre Mondell home-stead on mighty attractive terms.
Let me send you particulars—free. S. B. Howard, Immigration Agent,

2,500 ARE THROWN INTO WATER AS STEAMER EASTLAND SINKS

they would be admitted in groups of 25, and judging from the crowds which surrounded the building, coroner's aides believed it would take all night to let them all through. More than 900 bodies were then in the armory and some of the officials said they had reason to believe 300 or 400 bodies still were in the hold of the Eastland.

Instead of relatives of victims, most of first squads admitted to the armory consisted mainly of the curious, and Coroner Hoffman through a megaphone cried out that he would arrest in the name of decency anyone who entered the armory without reason other than the satisfaction of morbid curiosity.

As fast as bodies were identified they were removed again to the undertaking establishments to make room for others waiting outside in ambulances. There were more than 900 in the armory when the first people were admitted and within an hour 50 bodies were taken out and 50 more brought in.

Crowd Storms Armory Doors.

Members of the crowd waiting outside the armory stormed the doors late tonight and the police guarding the entrance were forced to use their clubs to drive them back. Several were injured, it was said.

Coroner Hoffman announced late tonight that he had ordered the arrest of every official of the Indiana Transportation company which leased the Eastland. No individuals were mentioned in the coroner's announcement.

Discover Seventeen Bodies.

Late tonight divers working in the hull of the Eastland discovered seventeen bodies which were taken to the morgue in the Second Regiment Armory. Dr. W. A. Evans, Chicago and foreman of the coroner's jury to investigate the disaster tonight after a tour to the morgue and the wrecked steamer said he believed that the dead would total about 1,000.

Pull Man Out of Water.

Mrs. Paulina Vantak, the mother of three children, was among the drowned. Her children were believed to have been lost. Henry Vantak, the woman's husband, was pulled out of the water.

"I could not believe the boat was turning over," Vantak said. "About a dozen of the 150 persons on the upper decks jumped. The rest were thrown into the river. I did not see my wife or children after the boat turned. They were carried into the river with the crowd. Someone grabbed me around the neck and kept pulling me. It was a woman, but I could not save her."

Policeman Henry H. Sesser, one of the first to go to the rescue, gave a vivid description of the accident.

"I saw scores of men and women, many of them holding children, plunge into the water. I jumped into a rowboat and pulled out to the drowning. I think I got about fifty ashore. The fire boat and tugs hurried to the scene and picked up more than a hundred people."

"We grabbed those nearest us first. At one time I had four women in the boat with me. Others I aided by dragging them from the water onto the docks."

Thought Boat Was Rocking.

John Morey, a Western Electric company employee, was one of the rescued.

"I was on the upper deck," said Morey, "when the boat began to list. I thought the boat was rocking at first, then it kept turning on one side. I caught hold of the rail and held on as the boat went over on its side."

"A loose chair swung around and struck me on the forehead. Something else hit me but I don't know what it was, but I managed to keep my hold on the rail until I was helped to land."

"There were more than 500 on my side of the boat at the time and many of them must have been drowned."

George Haber, an employee of a South Water street commission firm, was a witness of the accident.

"I was standing on a dock less than 100 feet away when the boat began to turn over," said Haber. "Some of the men on the boat were loosening some of the ropes. I noticed one heavy cable still fast to the stern, though. Then the boat began turning."

"It was seven or eight minutes, yes perhaps ten minutes, in turning over on its side. There were about 150 persons, I should judge, on the upper decks, and from the number that had gone on board there must have been many more than that below."

Captain Tells of Disaster.

Captain Harry Pederson, 57 years old, of Benton Harbor, Mich., who was in command of the boat, said:

"I was on the bridge and was about ready to pull out when I noticed the boat begin to list. I shouted orders to open the inside doors nearest the dock and give the people a chance to get out. The boat continued to roll and shortly afterwards the hawsers broke and the steamer turned over on its side and was drifting toward the middle of the river. When she went over I jumped and held on to the upper side. It all happened in two minutes. The cause is a mystery to me. I have sailed the lakes for twenty-five years and this is the first serious accident I ever had. I do not know how it happened."

Chief Stewart Albert Wycoff said:

"I was in the lunch room on the main deck when I noticed the boat beginning to list. Dishes fell out of the rack and a scene of wild excitement followed. I shouted for the people to save themselves. A moment later I jumped into the water and rescued three women."

ment later I jumped into the water and rescued three women."

Officers Push Crowd Back. Mrs. Emmett O'Donnell of Berlin, Ill., said:

"The steamer was getting ready to leave and was crowded with excursionists. The officers of the boat pushed the crowd back which was around the gangplank in order to pull it in. I think this is what caused the boat to list to one side. It never stopped when it started to roll and a few moments later it was out in the middle of the river on its side. I saw dozens of people drowned around me but was unable to give assistance. By a great effort I was able to climb on the upper side of the boat and managed to hold on until taken off by rescuers."

Lysle Goyatte, 1953 South Avers avenue, Chicago, said:

"My wife and I had just entered the boat and were in the crowd on the main deck near the gangplank. Then I heard some one shout, 'get back' and we were pushed over to one side. A moment later the boat started to list. We were all panic-stricken and could do nothing. I lifted my wife in my arms and crawled out of an opening on the upper side of the boat as it slowly went over."

W. K. Greenebaum, manager of the Indiana Transportation company, who was in charge of the excursion, said: "We had chartered five steamers for the excursion of the Western Electric company's employees to Michigan City, Indiana, today. We had the steamers Eastland, Petoskey, Theodore Roosevelt, Racine and Maywood."

"The Eastland was the first boat to load and the docks were crowded with passengers who were to be taken on the other boats nearby. One United States steamboat inspector and two assistants watched the Eastland load. They stood at the gangplank and counted the passengers as they went aboard. Their report shows there were 2,500 passengers on the Eastland, its full capacity under the United States steamboat regulations."

Steamer Filled to Capacity.

The steamer was filled to capacity and hundreds were turned to other boats, according to S. G. Hall, one of the Western Electric ticketers. He estimated that 7,000 tickets had been distributed to the employees.

"I got to the dock, said Hall, 'and was told to go to the other boats, as the Eastland was already crowded. There were fifteen or twenty people behind me and more coming fast."

"I had scarcely gone ten feet toward the Theodore Roosevelt when the Eastland began to list. Hundreds ran to the rail and many climbed over its sides as it turned over. All were thrown into the water."

Six government inspectors were working on the dock when the Eastland turned over. They were in charge of Inspector McCurry.

"Two inspectors were assigned to the Eastland," McCurry said, "to see that the boat was not overcrowded. The ship had taken on all that she would hold and the two inspectors had turned many others away who were ready to sail when the accident occurred."

"The sinking of the ship came to me like a stroke of lightning. It all happened so suddenly."

Swims Ashore With Boy. George Michalec, an excursionist, was thrown into the river and grasped the hair of a boy and swam to the docks with him.

"I was standing at the rail when the boat began to tip and caught hold of Frank Cerney, my companion. We went under twice and when I came up the second time there was a boy by my side. I thought it was Frank. I grabbed him and swam ashore but it was the strange boy."

"Nine girls and I were in a stateroom having a party when all of a sudden we felt the boat going over," said Miss Lottie Anderson, one of the survivors. "We all fell into a heap. The screams and shrieks of the women in other staterooms were maddening. I fell into the water and did not see my sister or any of the eight others after that."

The Cutters and Mill teams of Capos and Sons played an exciting game of ball Saturday afternoon. The teams played a week ago and the game resulted in a tie. The result yesterday was in favor of the Mill team by a score of 12 to 4. Batteries were: Mill, Recker, Jost and Carter; Cutters: Nelson, DeSilva and Correa.

SOME CABBAGE.

Jack Rodriguez brought to the Journal office Saturday a head of cabbage that is probably the grandfather of all the cabbages in the community. It weighs 28 pounds and is a splendid specimen. It looks as though there is enough in the head to supply a good-sized hotel. The cabbage was raised on the Jacksonville State hospital farm.

EFFORTS TO SETTLE STRIKE OF BAYONNE OIL WORKERS FAIL

New York, July 24—Efforts to settle the strike of 1,500 Bayonne oil workers which has been in progress for a week and has been marked by serious riots and the killing of three strikers, failed tonight when the Standard Oil company of New Jersey notified the men that it would not accede to their modified demands. The strikers then voted not to return to work on Monday. Nearly 6,000 more men from the Tidewater company's plant, thrown out of work by the strike will also remain idle.

It's the Film That Makes the Picture

While none of us expect our cameras to reproduce pictures in all their original colors, still we find ourselves saying, "It ought to look more natural. I wonder what's the trouble." Particularly is this so when we attempt to record outdoor pictures. Nature hides her paint box in spite of us.

But with Ansco Film and Cyko Paper we can accurately make different tones of black and white or sepia the values of the original colors. And unless the film you use does record these color values accurately, the results will be disappointing, no matter what paper you print your negatives on.

WOMAN WHO TOOK POISON IN ST. LOUIS NOT RELATED HERE

Mrs. Lydia Ruth Brown, Who Attempted Suicide and Found Unconscious in a Park Visited by Jacksonville Ladies.

A woman who attempted to take her life in St. Louis by drinking bi-chloride of mercury Thursday afternoon gave her name as Mrs. Lydia Ruth Brown. In her story she stated that she had relatives residing in Jacksonville and in Springfield. A special to the Journal from St. Louis last night stated that Mrs. Brown was visited by two Jacksonville women Saturday but they did not identify her as a relative. Mrs. Brown claimed her home was in Springfield. The special reads as follows:

"Mrs. Lydia Ruth Brown, the young woman who took poison Thursday and was found unconscious in a park, was visited today at the city hospital by two women, one of them elderly to see if they could identify her as the missing daughter of the elderly woman. She was not the daughter however. The visitors were said to be from Jacksonville, Ill. Mrs. Brown says her home is at Springfield, Ill., not Jacksonville. Physicians at the hospital say she will recover."

THRESHING WORK CONTINUES.

Threshing has been finished on the L. S. Doane farm in the Joy Prairie neighborhood. There were about 34 acres and the average yield was from 28 to 30 bushels to the acre. Thirty acres on the Samuel Bridgeman farm in the same neighborhood has been threshed and turned out 33 bushels to the acre. All of this wheat and at least half from the Doane farm grade number two. Edward Patterson finished threshing on his farm and had a yield of eighteen bushels to the acre.

William Nunes Saturday cut the last of eight hundred acres of wheat and oats. He cut three hundred acres for himself and 500 for other people.

"LOYAL MEN" WIN CONTEST AT LITERBERRY CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Over 200 People Enjoy Banquet Saturday Night to Winning Class—Program of Music and Readings.

Victory was sweet to the 25 members of the "Loyal Men's" class of Literberry Christian Church Saturday evening when the seven other classes of the Sunday school united to give the winners an honor banquet in recognition of their first position at the close of the six months race.

At the close of a musical program a bountiful repast was enjoyed and a program of toasts was carried out under the direction of Albert Crum. The general banquet committee was composed of a member from each of the seven classes. Red and white, class colors of the men, beautified the tables, at which the serving was done by members of the young men's class.

J. W. Petefish is teacher of the Loyal Men. Though the contest was won by a good majority of points, Miss Lora Petefish's class, the "Loyal Daughters," was for a time a close second. W. H. Petefish, W. H. Crum, J. W. Petefish, Ernest L. Clark, C. P. Henderson, J. W. Martin and the Rev. C. B. Cantrall gave toasts at the close of the banquet. Following is the musical program which preceded the banquet:

Piano duet—Misses Anabel Crum and Edith Hitchins.

Vocal solo—Miss Helen Young.

Recitation—Miss Lucille Butler.

Vocal solo, "They Discharged Him Because He Was Old"—Miss Wilma Crum.

Duet—Mrs. W. H. Crum and Miss Wilma Crum.

Reading, "A Trip to the White Mountains"—Miss Lillian Bateman.

Reading, "Some New Theology"—Miss Lora Petefish.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JOHN T. DICKENS

RESIDENT OF CHAPIN DIES AFTER HOUR'S ILLNESS.

Had Gone to See Farmer East of Riggston About Buying Some Hay—Coroner Quinn of Winchester Holds Inquest—Funeral Monday Afternoon.

John Thomas Dickens of Chapin community, who had gone to see a farmer residing one and one half miles east of Riggston died suddenly Saturday at noon of heart disease. He had an attack at 11 o'clock and was removed to the home of James Berry. He did not want a physician called, saying that he was troubled with acute indigestion and heart trouble and would be over it in a short time. Later on Dr. F. A. Roberts of Chapin was summoned but arrived after the man had passed away at 12 o'clock.

Coroner M. W. Quinn of Winchester held an inquest Saturday afternoon with the following jury, Dr. F. A. Roberts, foreman, Dr. J. B. Eckman, George E. Thomas, George Willoughby, Charles Joy and T. C. Hill, clerk. They gave in a verdict of "death due to heart disease."

Mr. Dickens was born near Meredosia, May 23, 1856, and had just passed his 59th birthday. He married a Miss Reed and the family for sometime has resided 2 1-2 miles northwest of Chapin. He followed the occupation of a farmer. When he left home Saturday morning he appeared in his usual health and his death came as great shock to his loved ones and friends. He was a member of the Christian church and of the Modern Woodmen.

Besides his widow he leaves the following children, William and Orville at home, Mrs. Walter Williams of Timewell, Mrs. John P. Conliss of Bluffs, Richard of Curran. The children dead are Cecil, George, Gladys and Ora.

C. E. Williamson of firm of Williamson and Cody was called to take charge of the body, which will be removed to the family residence this morning. The funeral will probably be held Monday afternoon.

For a pleasing desert for today's dinner order a quart of FRESH PEACH ice cream; also some real nice ANGEL FOOD layer cakes, salted almonds etc. from MERRIGAN'S. TEL. 227.

WITH THE SICK.

Mrs. Henry Sorrell of the Shiloh neighborhood was able to return to her home Saturday after several weeks as a patient at Dr. Day's hospital.

HOUSE-WORK MADE EASY

SELLERS KITCHENEEDS

FITTED WITH SELLERS NEW PORCELAIN TABLE TOP

Can now be bought at this store for the first time in this city.

This New Table Top is the greatest improvement that has been made on kitchen cabinets in years and is the only absolutely perfect work table on the market. It is as white as snow and as easily cleaned as a china plate. Heat or cold can not affect it. Its glossy surface, as smooth as plate glass and as hard as flint, remains the same after years of use and with ordinary care will last a lifetime.

Just Think This Over. When you buy your kitchen cabinet, you will want and have a right to expect one that will give you years of service. The work table should be made of material that will last as long as the cabinet, can be easily cleaned and kept clean.

For years, all cabinet manufacturers have covered their work tables with nickeloid, nickelene or aluminum. All of these materials have been found wanting in some respect and begin to show signs of wear from the first day they are used. Then, too, these tables were placed alike on all grades of cabinets and you were offered no better work table with the high grade cabinet than you were with the moderate and low priced ones.

There has been a growing demand for a table top that would "stand the test of time". That demand can now be satisfied with this new "Porceliron" work table on any Sellers Kitcheneed.

You are cordially invited to call and inspect our new line of Kitcheneeds fitted with these new work tables. We agree to prove to you by actual test at our store the superiority of this Table Top over others and to make good all our claims for it.
